WALL OF FAME INDUCTEES

PROFESSOR EMERITUS LINDSAY CARTER - THE REVEREND CANON DAVID MORRELL - GLEN DENHAM

Three new names were added to our Hall of Fame this week and two of the inductees; Reverend Canon David Morrell (below left) and Glen Denham (centre) came to school to speak to the boys about their time at King's, their lives and achievements.

Professor Emeritus Lindsay Carter - Academic

1945 – 1949

While at King's, Lindsay was an athlete, in the 1949 Tennis team, and a member of the 1st Soccer XI for three years. He was awarded a Diploma in Physical Education in 1953 and, after spending a year at Auckland Teachers' College, he returned to Otago and became a Research Assistant to Professor Smithells, and a Junior Lecturer in 1955, when the incumbent was overseas on study leave. Lindsay won a Fulbright Scholarship in 1956 and studied at the University of Iowa, gaining an M.A. and a Ph.D (1959) before returning to New Zealand to lecture in physical education for three years, followed by his appointment in 1962 as an Assistant Professor in the Department of Physical Education at San Diego State University in California.

There Lindsay taught applied anatomy and kinesiology, biomechanics, growth and development, and kinanthropometry. In 1964 he established an Anthropometry Laboratory, and in 1967 an Electromyography Laboratory. In 1983 he received the Outstanding Faculty Award, and in the following year the Exceptional Merit Award. He was the key investigator in anthropometric studies of Olympic and World Championship athletes at Mexico (1968), Montreal (1976), Perth (1991), Uruguay (1995), and Zimbabwe (1995) and has served as a consultant and co-investigator in 18 countries. He has published some 125 articles and chapters, as well as being author or editor of nine books.

Many honours have been bestowed on Lindsay. In 2003 the Auckland University of Technology opened the J.E. Lindsay Carter Kinanthropometry Laboratory as a teaching, research, and community facility and ten years later the J.E. Lindsay Carter Kinanthropometry Clinic and Archive, which provides teaching, research and community services to children, adolescents and athletes at different levels of sport. The Semmelweis University in Hungary (1998) and the Vrije University in Belgium (2005) have each bestowed honorary doctorates on him. He is a Life Member of Physical Education New Zealand, and in 2006 he was elected to the inaugural Wall of Fame at Otago University's School of Physical Education. He is Honorary Life Member and Past President of the International Society for the Advancement of Kinanthropometry (ISAK), and Fellow of the American Academy of Physical Education.

Lindsay retired in 1992 and is currently Professor Emeritus at San Diego State University where he continues his research as well as consulting, organising workshops, and accepting invited presentations.

The Reverend Canon David Morrell - Humanities

1954 – 1957

David comes from a family prominent in Dunedin educational circles. His father was Professor of History at Otago University, and for 14 years Chairman of the Otago High Schools Board, which controlled King's. His aunt taught at Otago Girls' High School for 35 years ultimately as First Assistant, and his grandfather was Rector of Otago Boys' High School from 1907-33 and subsequently Chancellor of Otago University.

In his final year at King's David was a member of the 1st Hockey XI. He then attended Otago University graduating with a BA in History and English in 1963. He received his Licentiate of Theology (L. Th.) after studying at St John's Anglican College in Auckland from 1964-66 and became curate of St John's Roslyn. Three months Clinical Pastoral Education at Porirua Hospital led in 1971 to a post as Acting Presbyterian Chaplain at Dunedin Hospital and then as Anglican Chaplain at Christchurch Hospital. He was later at Burwood Hospital Christchurch, and was Co-ordinating Ecumenical Chaplain. David was President of the NZ Hospital Chaplains' Association and a member of the Department of Health's Inter-Church Council on Hospital Chaplaincy.

From 1977 he undertook postgraduate study into the health/welfare and theology interfaces at the University of Birmingham, gaining a Diploma in Pastoral Studies (DPS). This included part time training as a Probation Officer there.

In 1982 David was appointed as City Missioner at the Christchurch City Mission. The City Mission is an Anglican centre city social service organisation ministering to the down-trodden, the homeless and the drug and alcohol addicted. He held the position for 22 years retiring in 2004. The budget rose to well over $1M and staff to about 65, as the work expanded in response to changing social and economic conditions. The position was a high profile one involving a great deal of media contact. In 1990 he was appointed to the Cathedral Chapter as a Clerical Canon and remains an Honorary Canon. He was a member of the Diocesan Standing Committee.

In 2001 David stood for election to the Canterbury District Health Board and has at times been the highest polling member, chairing the Board's Hospital Advisory Committee for many years. He chairs the trust for The Nurses' Memorial Chapel.

David is also controversially, a trustee of the Great Christchurch Buildings Trust, which seeks to restore heritage buildings in Christchurch, damaged by the earthquakes, in particular Christchurch Cathedral.

Since 2007, he has been British Honorary Consul at Christchurch covering the South Island, and was involved in the quakes and the Pike River mine disaster.

As a Churchill Fellow in 1994, he visited Washington, New York, London and Manchester having discussions with senior governmental officials, politicians and organisations on the process of advocacy for the disadvantaged, and also participating in a three week strategic leadership course at Ashridge Management College funded by the Bonar Law Trust. In 1988 a St John's College Fellowship had taken him to Virginia Seminary to participate in a six week Mid-Career Assessment Programme.

David's work has not gone unnoticed: he was awarded a 1990 Commemoration Medal for Community Services, in 1994 Lions' International made him a Melvin Jones Fellow; and in 2004 he was made a Fellow of the NZ Institute of Management. In 2002 the Queen honoured him with the Companion of the Queen's Service Order (QSO) for Community Service.

Glen Denham - Sports

1977 - 1982

Glen is of Maori descent, and Te Arawa is his iwi affiliation. During the school's first fifty years, he was only the third pupil to be selected as Head Boy for two consecutive years. Glen is one of the most versatile sportsmen to represent King's. He was awarded Blues in Basketball, Cricket, Soccer and Volleyball – indeed at the 1982 winter interschool against Southland Boys' High School, he played in the Basketball, Volleyball and Soccer matches! He captained the school's 1st Cricket XI for two years, represented Otago at Basketball while still a schoolboy; and was a member of the school's 1st Soccer XI. Not surprisingly Glen won the Salter Trophy in 1982 as top sportsman of the year. In 1983 he left school to attend the Dunedin College of Education, and gained his Diploma of Teaching.

Glen first represented New Zealand at Basketball in 1984, and played in more than 200 matches for his country. He remains the longest serving Captain (13 years) of any New Zealand international sports team. He was named most outstanding New Zealand forward three times, and at the 1986 FIBA World Championships (where New Zealand was placed 13th) he scored an average of seven points per game. During an illustrious NBL career, he scored more than 4000 points and secured an impressive 2000 rebounds.

At the same time Glen was enjoying success in both television and radio, appearing with Lana Coc-Kroft in the entertainment series Across the Ditch, and in such other shows as Sports Café, A Question of Sport, Clash of the Codes, Deaker, Give Us a Chance, and A Game of Two Halves. He was a basketball commentator for both NBL and international matches, and for Radio Sport, while also hosting the radio show The Bigger Breakfast.

In 2000, Glen and his family moved to England, where he was appointed Deputy Head Teacher at Moulsham Junior School at Chelmsford in Essex, and then to Woolwich Polytechnic in southeast London. In 2009 he was appointed Principal of the new 1600 pupil Oasis Academy Shirley Park in Croydon, a tough environment with high levels of deprivation and need, gang issues, and teenage pregnancy all prevalent. The student population was predominantly Afro-Caribbean, speaking more than thirty languages, with only seventeen percent white British. However Glen believed that it shouldn't matter where the pupils came from, nor the status of their parents, but the quality of the education they received; it was about social justice and transformation. Because of his leadership and his dedicated staff, the school's GCSE results improved by a staggering 38 percentage points, and it reached the top one percent of the most improved schools in the United Kingdom. This year Glen has returned to New Zealand to become Principal of Massey High School in northwest Auckland.

GIFTED AND TALENTED CO-ORDINATOR – BERNADETTE

TENCI

Too often this 'title' conjures up 'elitist' or exclusive associations. Alternatively, we can become a bit dismissive, as in: I don't need to bother with this because it won't apply to me, or, it may even rattle our "Tall Poppy" presumptions. Further yet, we certainly, in general, all believe our student and sons are stars ...but are also aware that there is an inherent Kiwi reluctance to look like we might be gloating. Here at Kings, however, let's just make it completely clear ... Our aim is to produce fields of Tall Poppies and for the entire community to feel very happy about that.

Traditionally, the term 'gifted' has been used to refer to the top 5% of the population in terms of academic ability – but it is now broadened to apply to individual academic excellence or even thinking processes, rather than solely IQ tests and markers. 'Talented' has had, and still does have, a much wider scope – ranging from those with already established 'talents' when they enter High School to those whose talents are only just emerging or even being found. Further there are those who abandon one area of skill or interest in hot pursuit of some other. Really, everybody has talents and it's about them being found and cultivated in an environment that allows this.

Ultimately we want 'happy' students – this means for all our young men to have their particular ability recognised, enhanced and appreciated. All of this is part and parcel of developing confidence and self-respect, let alone tremendous skills, aptitudes and achievements for the betterment of their individual lives as well as our whole community.

We go to many lengths, here at King's, to find out about the boys and to keep track of what they are up to, interested in or achieving ... nonetheless, despite our best efforts, sometimes abilities and interests can still remain uncovered and it's usually the people who know them best, family and friends, who can let us know. If there is any ability, achievement or potential that you feel we may not already productively know about, please feel free to contact your son's Group or liaison teacher who can pass this on to me or contact me directly on email: ti@kingshigh.school.nz

We are always open to know whatever we can about the students in order to cater as well as possible to their holistic development.

All the best for now

Bernadette Tenci

OTAGO OMATHLON

The Otago OMATHalon competition for juniors was held in the Lion Centre at the Edgar Centre on Tuesday night. King's had four teams in both the Year 9 and Year 10 competitions. While the Year 10 teams competed admirably, the Year 9 teams went very well indeed - two of the teams were within 4 questions of finishing the 30 minute competition, and the top team, consisting of William Scharpf, Jay Alderson-Muir, Paddy Borthick, and Duncan Roff answered all 30 questions of the competition correctly in 15 minutes to gain FIRST place! A tremendous effort!

Congratulations to... Ice Hockey

Liam Kinraid who played for the Dunedin Thunder Ice Hockey Team in CHCH last weekend in their two games against Christchurch Admirals where the honours were shared with a win apiece. This is a big honour for Liam as he joined three other King's boys (Jacob Hurring, Ben Wallis and Dylan Devlin) who are also in the Dunedin Thunder Squad.

Small Bore Rifle Shooting

The King's Small Bore Team 1 (Morris Stevenson, Cody Callaghan, Nic Brosnahan and Danny Latta) won the Otago Secondary Champs last night. Morris also won Top Boy.

Also, Morris went to Whanganui on Thursday to represent the South Island for Small Bore.

ROWING

Winter sports are due to finish and the weather is coming right. We will be looking to kick off our rowing season in the next 2-3 weeks. Those that are keen on a good season will no doubt have been putting in the groundwork, i.e. getting stronger and fitter.

The month of September (Starting Sat 5th) will be for new aspiring rowers to have a go together with the help of all experienced rowers. Saturday mornings 8am at NERC - Sunday if Saturday is no good.

From October the squad will be selected and training times organised.

We are looking for 1-2 assistants who can help our current coach Kelvin Maker manage/coach the squad this year. Please let me know if you are interested in developing this area, which can be very rewarding. It can be part time and also work in with your own rowing goals. Please contact Mr Conrad in the Sports Office (A5) if you are interested.

KING'S GOLF TOURNAMENT (FRIDAY 9TH OCTOBER) @ ST. CLAIR GOLF CLUB

It is that time of the year again where preparations for this year's King's Golf Tournament are underway.

This will be the 6th year the tournament will be held at the St.Clair Golf Club.

Our parent community continue to be fantastic supporters of this day, so if I can please ask that parents/caregivers who have prizes to donate (Wine/Chocolates/Vouchers etc) please pop them into the school office in the next 2-3 weeks.

If you know people within our community that would be keen to support the day with product(s), vouchers or anything for prizes/raffles, it would be appreciated if you can email me their contact details so I can follow this up.

All money raised goes back into Sport at King's.

I appreciate your assistance and support.

Darin Smith
Assistant Principal

'Queen B and the Swing Kings' – combined King's High & Queen's High Schools Jazz Band, once again set off to sunny Blenheim, with staff members Jo Dryden (King's) Dale Irvine (Queen's) and Paul Claman (itinerant brass tutor and band Director), for the annual Southern Youth Jam Jazz Festival. This is the ninth year the Jazz Band has participated in the festival and competition. The annual event sees bands from high schools all over the South Island flock to Blenheim and its surrounding areas to perform gigs in schools, public and private clubs and restaurants but also to compete in 'The Southern Youth Jam' Competition.

En route to Blenheim, the band of 19 musicians from both schools first enjoyed an afternoon in Christchurch at the CPIT (Christchurch Polytechnic Institute of Technology) Jazz School, where the experienced tutors workshopped some of the pieces the band were to present at the festival. This jazz-specific experience is one the students find particularly valuable in preparation for the upcoming competition.

For the second year running, Harry Smith (1st trombone) was selected for the 'All Stars' Band 2015 which features the 'cream' of the entire festival of performers. The group have just 1½ hours with head tutor Gwyn Reynolds to put together three jazz standards – one big band, one Latin and one funk – which are then performed at the final concert, along with an item chosen from each participating band. The audience are also treated to a performance by the adjudicators of the competition; this year the tutors from CPIT – their items an inspiration to all involved in the festival. Comments from some of our participants from King's confirm what a valuable experience attending such a festival is for our students development.
